

Nixon not sure of response

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon is still undecided on "the content or form" of his response to a House Judiciary Committee's subpoena for tape recordings of 42 presidential conversations, a White House spokesman said today.

Nixon must respond by Thursday to the committee subpoena for material it seeks in its impeachment inquiry.

"We will have an answer this week," deputy press secretary Gerald L. Warren said in response to reporters' questions.

Warren acknowledged there has been discussion about another public presidential statement on the Watergate scandal and the impeachment inquiry.

But, Warren said, "the President told me no decisions have been made in terms of content or form of the reply" to the committee's subpoena.

Breaking with his practice of not disclosing when Nixon meets with his chief Watergate lawyer James D. St. Clair, Warren said the two had conferred Sunday afternoon and again today so Nixon could "give... his thoughts on this matter" — a reference to the committee subpoena.

Warren would not, however, give details of the discussions with St. Clair, and would not say whether Nixon had listened during the weekend to any of the tapes under subpoena.

Warren also confirmed that Nixon will make public appearances in Mississippi and Arizona in the next two weeks. The speeches in regions of the country considered generally favorable to the President's cause are part of a fresh White House public relations campaign on the continuing impeachment controversy.

On Thursday, the deadline for an answer to the House Judiciary Committee's subpoena for 42 tape recorded conversations, Nixon is scheduled to address a regional economic council in Jackson, Miss.

On May 3, one day after a response is due on special Watergate prosecutor Leon Jaworski's subpoena for tapes of 63 conversations, Nixon is to make a public appearance in Phoenix, Ariz.

Although White House spokesmen won't publicly disclose the President's plans, indications are mounting that Nixon will stop short of supplying the House committee with all the subpoenaed material. One aide has said some of the conversations were never recorded and that others deal with national security matters.

According to reliable reports, the public relations campaign is intended to convince Americans that Nixon's response to the committee request is, in the words of one official, "comprehensive and conclusive."

In recent days, Nixon aides reportedly have been completing transcripts of the subpoenaed tapes and working on a lengthy document that White House officials contend will prove the President's innocence of any Watergate wrongdoing.

Whether the document will be released publicly, or merely turned over to the committee, has not been disclosed.

Believe gas could have caused blast

NEW YORK (AP) — An explosion attributed to gas leaking in a commercial building rocked the East Side of Manhattan near the United Nations today and injured at least 75 persons in the neighborhood.

The blast damaged four nearby diplomatic missions — of Nepal, Indonesia, Burundi and Laos — and shattered the windows of hundreds of sleeping residents for blocks around.

The 6:58 a.m. explosion sent 75 persons to hospitals. In addition, 11 policemen were hurt in rescue and search operations, according to police and hospital spokesmen.

While firemen worked in the building, an anonymous caller telephoned police and said a bomb was set to go off in the building.

Fire Commissioner John O'Hagan cleared his men out as a precaution.

The blast ripped the 26-story commercial structure and touched off a fire. But the injured persons were neighboring residents, principally the dazed occupants of Envoy Towers, a luxury apartment house adjoining the blast site.

O'Hagan said there were three possible causes of the blast — gas, inflammables or explosives — but told newsmen: "Evidence points to natural gas as the cause of the explosion."

He said a number of persons said they had smelled gas before the blast, but evidently no complaint was made.

He said there appeared to be no structural damage to the Envoy Towers building — "It's a matter of replacing windows for the most part," he said.

It was not known whether any persons were in the commercial building when the blast occurred.

The Envoy Towers, 300 E. 46th St., is the address of the Nepalese consulate general and the Nepalese U.N. Mission.

The severely damaged commercial building runs through the block between First and Second avenues to 45th Street.

The Indonesian and Laotian mission on East 45th Street were reported damaged by the force of the blast.

Bellevue Hospital, where 35 of the injured were taken, reported five persons seriously hurt with deep lacerations and bruises. The other were treated for lesser cuts and bruises and smoke inhalation, the hospital reported.

A resident of Envoy Towers, J. V. Hill, said he was awakened by the blast, which blew venetian blinds 25 feet across the room to an opposite wall and moved chairs and bookcases across the apartment.

The Fire Department ordered gas service shut out in many buildings throughout the neighborhood as a precaution.

during the weekend on six appropriations bills, trying to reach agreement on wording. There appeared to be no major disagreement on money amounts.

The House-passed bills that contain spending items as low as $25 have been criticized by the governor as placing unnecessary restrictions on department directors under government reorganization.

One of the Senate conferees, Sen. Richard Webster, R-Car-thage, says the House bills contain dozens of appropriations for agencies and programs that might be phased out under reorganization, which takes effect July 1.

The House appropriations chairman, Rep. James "Jay" Russell, D-Florissant, contends the line item appropriations are authorized in the reorganization bill. The senators say no, that it applies to department budget requests and not how the appropriations statutes are to be written.

Russell said he was trying to make the state agencies accountable for state tax funds.

Golan Heights front fighting is intense

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Artillery fire pounded strategic Mt. Hermon today and fighting erupted along the entire Golan Heights front. The Syrian command reported it was hitting Israeli antiaircraft missile bases that were "moved up to forward positions last night."

The Syrians claimed their artillery and tanks had "inflicted heavy losses on enemy military installations, concentration points and antitank missile bases."

Israel reported artillery fire against the Mt. Hermon peak, where Israeli forces have been fortifying a new position for the past 10 days, had resumed after a night lull.

A spokesman for Israel's military command denied a report by unofficial sources in Lebanon that Israeli soldiers had taken a Lebanese hilltop Sunday in the fight for control of the mountain. The sources had identified the hill as Shahar, on a southwest slope of the mountain.

The military command in Tel Aviv reported that in air activity Sunday, the Israeli air force had pounded Syrian emplacements six miles behind the front and drove off one Syrian air raider.

Egypt has refused to meet with Libya and Syria at a session of the People's Council of the Federation of Arab Republics, the Cairo newspaper Al Akhbar reported today.

No reason was given for the refusal of Egyptian members of the federation parliament to go to Libya for the meeting, but there was speculation that it was a protest against last Thursday's attack on the Military Technical Academy in Cairo. Egyptian officials believed the attack, in which 11 persons were killed, was inspired by Libya.

In an interview published by the New York Times today, Egyptian President Anwar Sadat was quoted as saying he would welcome arms talks with the United States.

Following a policy speech last Thursday, in which Sadat said Egypt would diversify its weapons sources, the president was quoted by the Times as saying, "I assure you we are already in action."

He declined to say what country discussions or deals are under way.

In Washington officials of the State Department said the United States can be expected to start a major economic aid program with Egypt in coming months but indicated there are no plans to supply Egypt with arms.

Both Israeli and Syrian air forces were reported in action Sunday.

The Israeli command said its planes attacked artillery and troop positions six miles behind Syrian lines after Syrian guns shelled Israeli positions on Mt. Hermon. The Israelis said the Syrians also sent one of their MIG jets against the Israeli positions on the mountain, but Israeli interceptors drove it off.

A Syrian communique reported Syrian forces battled the Israelis at 10 points in the Golan Heights and the Mt. Hermon area Sunday. It claimed a number of Israelis were killed or wounded and two observation posts were blown up.

Mt. Hermon straddles the Lebanese-Syrian border and is just north of the Israeli panhandle, giving the army that controls it a bird's eye view of the opposing armies on the Golan Heights, southeast Syria, including Damascus, and the villages in southern Lebanon from which Israel claims Palestinian guerrillas raid northern Israel.

Syrian and Israeli forces have been battling for positions on Hermon for more than two weeks. Israel captured the 7,220-foot south shoulder of the mountain in 1967, but Syria held on to the rest of it.

Emergency declared after twisters hit

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Tornadoes slashed through Oshkosh, Wis., on Sunday, damaging more than 400 homes and prompting the state's acting governor to declare a state of emergency.

An elderly woman and an infant were killed as twisters touched down in a 35-mile stretch through four counties from Oshkosh south to Lomira.

Tornadoes also touched down in Texas and Illinois on Sunday, but Wisconsin was the hardest hit.

The Wisconsin tornadoes struck about 4 p.m.

A 74-year-old Campbellsport woman was killed when a tornado demolished her mobile home and a 5-month-old baby was killed when a tornado sent a tree crashing onto the car in which he was riding.

Property damage was most severe in Oshkosh, but no deaths were reported in the city. "It's miraculous that nobody got killed," said City Manager Gordon Jaeger. "The damage has got to be in the millions."

"You could see roofs flying through the air," an Oshkosh policeman said.

About 20 persons were reported injured in the four-county area hit by the tornadoes.

Secretary of State Robert C.

Zimmerman, acting as governor, declared a state of emergency and sent National Guard troops to help Oshkosh authorities clean up and keep sightseers out.

In northern Texas, tornadoes and severe thunderstorms injured eight persons and caused widespread property damage.

Tornadoes in northern Illinois damaged about 20 homes and injured a few persons at Polo, while another touched down nearby at Stillman Valley. No major damage was reported.

Meanwhile, the danger of flooding still hung over Minot, N.D., but officials expressed optimism that the Souris River could be contained by present dikes.

The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers worked to complete two new channels and another dike. More than 3,000 persons were evacuated from a residential area on the flood plain as a precaution.

The river was expected to crest Thursday at about three feet above flood stage.

Floods swept over parts of the Standing Rock Indian Reservation on the North Dakota-South Dakota state line over the weekend. About 40 persons were evacuated from the flood plain of Oak Creek. One man drowned near McLaughlin on Saturday when he attempted to drive on a bridge over a floodswollen river.

Short work session for state's budget

BULLETIN

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — The joint House-Senate committee trying to work out differences in the versions of state appropriations bills submitted by both houses recessed after meeting for a second time today so the House contingent could consider a Senate proposal.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — As the hours ticked toward the midnight deadline tonight for passage of the state's $2 billion budget by the Missouri Legislature, House and Senate conferees resumed deliberations today but recessed after less than 15 minutes.

The deadlocked joint committee met into the early morning making little headway, resumed an hour later than scheduled this morning and recessed again as the chairmen of the House and Senate appropriations committees met away from the conference to discuss the bills.

With the Senate returning for work on the floor in the late morning and the House getting back to work early this afternoon, conference committee discussions could be hampered still further.

Members of the Senate contingent indicated before today's resumption of talks that they intended to hold fast to their position against detailed itemization in the bills as proposed by the House.

Veteran members of the committee considering the budget openly expressed concern that a special session of the legislature would be necessary for consideration of the bills because there seemed to be less and less likelihood of meeting the deadline.

Senate eliminates weekend off

Budget deadlock is holding up other tasks

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Missouri lawmakers resume work Monday, hoping to resolve a deadlock on the state's $2 billion 1974-75 fiscal budget by the Monday midnight deadline so attention can be focused on other major legislation.

For the first time this year, the Senate, facing some controversial issues that will take up valuable time, will not go home next weekend.

The Democratic majority leader, Sen. Lawrence Lee, D-St. Louis, called for senators to meet at 11 a.m. Monday and be prepared to spend the weekend in Jefferson City, meeting next Saturday and Sunday. The House, expected to adjourn next weekend, returns at 2 p.m. Monday.

The joint rules of the Senate and House place April 22 at midnight as the deadline for completion of work on appropriations bills. The 1974 session will be adjourned at midnight April 30 and several legislators have suggested to the governor that he consider a special session to get the budget out of the way.

The rules can be changed, and House leaders have expressed a willingness to do so. The Senate hasn't.

Facing the Senate again this week is a bill to reinstate the death penalty for certain crimes. Debate was broken off last week so the Senate could consider a capital improvements money bill. The issue was debated for seven days last year and failed as time ran out.

Pending before the Senate is a substitute by Sen. Ike Skelton, D-Lexington, to a bill by Sen. Frank Bild, R-St. Louis County, which is a substitute to a House bill.

Skelton's proposal carries the death penalty for murder during a rape or kidnapping, murder for hire, murder of a policeman or fireman, and murder by anyone under a prison sentence.

Sen. Maurice Schechter, D-Creve Coeur, failed in trying to substitute life in prison with a mandatory 25 years without parole as the punishment for those crimes.

The House bill, sponsored by Rep. Robert Griffin, D-Cameron, calls for the death penalty for premeditated killing during a robbery, arson, forcible rape, burglary, sexual molestation of a child under 13 and murder during a kidnapping.

In addition, it provides for death for killing for hire, killing of a policeman or fireman while they are on duty, murder by a felon, murder of more than one person in one incident, murder to avoid capture or identification, killing while trying to hijack a plane, murder by anyone previously convicted of murder, assassination of state or federal officials, and murder of a guard or an employee by an inmate of a state mental institution.

Missouri has not had an execution since 1965. The U.S. Supreme Court, in outlawing the death penalty, left the way open for states to reinstate it when it is mandatory for a certain crime.

Other matters awaiting final action and solving of differences by conference committees are repeal of the household goods tax, tightening of the property tax collection on automobiles, campaign reform, a plan to improve maternal health care, compensation of crime victims, strengthening the state's antitrust statute and providing witness immunity by forcing a person to testify and get immunity or face a year's prison sentence for contempt of court.

Ann Landers

Healthier perspective sought by depressed

Dear Ann Landers: I have no ONE big problem but it seems that I am constantly overwhelmed by a series of small problems. I am depressed and lonely. I can't remember when I last had a carefree day.

I don't know why I'm writing to you. Maybe it's because I consider you a friend. Even that's a little sick. You don't know me from Adam.

I guess my problem is that I let too many things get me down. I feel like a failure. No matter what I do I think it isn't good enough. I envy people who seem to be enjoying life.

Perhaps you can suggest something for me to read — some book that will give me a lift, a healthier perspective. I feel as if I'm sinking. Can you throw me a lifeline? — My Name is Legion

Dear Legion: I think I can help you, and others. The "lifeline" is a new book I just finished reading. It is simply written and contains some incredibly supportive and uplifting material. Here are a few excerpts:

"If I can just get through this problem, then everything will be all right." This may be one of the most common of English sentences. Then there comes a time when we suddenly realize that if we do get through the present problem, there will be another slightly larger problem waiting to take its place. The time when 'everything will be all right' recedes a little further into the distance, until finally we forget it altogether. A problem does not have a life of its own. It doesn't hang suspended in time and space, waiting for us to collide with it. Problems exist because we exist in a world with other people."

The title of the book I am recommending is "Living With Everyday Problems" by Eugene Kennedy. This paperback book is for everyone who needs help, which includes all of us. If it's not available at your bookstore you can write to: Thomas More Press, 180 North Wabash, Chicago, Illinois 60601. Send $2.25. They'll pay tax and postage.

Dear Ann Landers: This is a reply to "Himself," that arrogant, pompous ass of a husband who said the reason so many men would just as soon not have their wives get up in the morning to cook breakfast is because they look so horrible. He described the tangled hair, bags under the eyes, ratty bathrobe and bedroom shoes "flopping around like two dead animals."

I'd like to know what HE looks like before he has had a chance to shower and shave, dab on the after-shave lotion, get into his shirt and tie and freshly-pressed suit. It seems to me if a couple has a fairly decent marriage, they should be able to look rumped in the morning and not apologize. That's what marriage is all about — being comfortable with one another.

As an experiment, why doesn't that husband get up half an hour earlier and make breakfast and give his wife time to fix her hair, put on some makeup and appear at the breakfast table ready for the camera? — Burnt Up

Dear Burnt: Many readers wrote to express similar views, but your language was the most printable. "Himself" struck plenty of raw nerves with his attack on Mrs. Average Wife.

I agree that a good marriage should be able to tolerate the "rumped look." The best evidence is in Hollywood. The most beautiful women in America are having the most difficulty hanging on to their husbands.

Humphrey joins tax cut group

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey has joined two other key Senate Democrats in calling for an income tax cut to offset the impact of inflation and "stimulate the economy through consumer demand."

The Minnesota Democrat urged Sunday that Congress enact a tax cut to help low- and middle-income families faced with steep living costs "in the midst of a recession."

Humphrey's tax cut proposal came after Sens. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., and Walter F. Mondale, D-Minn., had proposed taxes be cut by $5.9 billion, mainly through increasing the personal exemption on taxable income from $750 up to $825.

For a family of four, with taxable income of $8,000 to $12,000, the increased exemptions would mean a tax savings of about $106 at current tax rates. With taxable income of between $12,000 and $16,000, the same family of four would save about $115.

Meanwhile, President Nixon's chief domestic affairs adviser said the administration was not presently considering a tax cut.

Kenneth R. Cole Jr., interviewed Sunday on the NBC program "Meet the Press" said that a tax decrease "at this particular point in time will inflame" inflation, rather than solve economic problems.

He repeated the administration's belief that the economy will begin to improve in the second half of the year.

Humphrey, chairman of the Joint Economic Committee, also advocated creation of new public service jobs for the unemployed as well as a permanent agency to monitor and counter inflation.

Latest government figures show inflation is now running at a rate of more than 10 per cent annually. During the first three months of this year, consumer prices rose at an annual rate of 14.5 per cent.

The government also announced last week that in the same three months, the nation's total output of goods and services dropped at an annual rate of 5.8 per cent, the biggest decline since the recession of 1958.

Both House Speaker Carl Albert, D-Okla., and Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, chairman of the powerful House Ways and Means Committee, have indicated they would support such a move to cut taxes unless there is a marked upturn in the economy soon.

Humphrey did not specify how the tax cut he favors should be put into effect.

New shows in wings for TV networks

By JAY SHARBUTT

AP Television Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — There has to be an easier way for the networks to disclose their new fall program wares. NBC and CBS have emitted theirs, but not without a brisk opening game of corporate peekaboo.

It happened last week, when NBC said it was canceling 10 current shows and returning next fall with 12 new ones. At CBS, the word was five series axed and seven new ones installed in the 1974-75 lineup.

The announcements were simple enough. But the way they came out Friday seemed akin to that amusing game in which you try to find the pea under one of three shells — or two, as the case may be here.

It was corporate competition of a high order and went this way:

NBC, which earlier in the week said its fall schedule would be out Friday, changed its mind and said today would be the big day. CBS, usually the first out with word of new shows, said today — maybe.

Come Friday, NBC distributed its fall program schedule on the proviso it not be divulged until Sunday night. A call to CBS drew word that its new schedule wouldn't be dispatched until today.

But upon learning of NBC's plot, CBS frowned and said it might do that, too. Minutes later, it said its new schedule would be released immediately. NBC heard of this, said "ah-hah!" and, after a few moments' deliberation, said its schedule could be released immediately Friday. Then came a call from CBS. There'd been a mixup somewhere.

It now was holding its immediate release until Monday, thereby befuddling newsmen who hadn't gotten either document. CBS frowned again when it learned of NBC's continuing skulduggery.

After a short pause, CBS up and came across with its new fall season. The befuddled reporters were advised the once-canceled immediate release could be released immediately and no kidding.

All this happened in an hour's time. When the smoke cleared, NBC was declared the new winner in the New Program and Cancellation Announcement Derby, which traditionally is run this time of year.

ABC, which stood by on the sidelines watching the contest with great interest, told inquiring newsmen what it'd been saying all along — that its schedule would appear late today or Tuesday.

In any event, the NBC shows that won't return next fall are "The Dean Martin Comedy Hour," "The Flip Wilson Show," "The Magician," "Tuesday Night Mystery Movie." "Chase," "Wednesday Night at the Movies," "Music Country U.S.A.," "The Girl with Something Extra," "The Brian Keith Show" and "Lotsa Luck."

NBC also is axing the monthly "Hec Ramsey" segment of its "Sunday Mystery Movie" series, but the other segments will return.

War victim is reunited with American friends

NEW YORK (AP) — Greta Jean was only 8 in 1942 when her life was shattered in war-torn England. Her mother dead and her sister evacuated, Greta-Jean was befriended by Harry and Smitty, two American GIs.

She never forgot their kindness, and on Sunday she and Harry and Smitty and their wives got together again in an unlikely reunion spurred by an emotional letter she wrote.

Remembering the kind things Harry and Smitty had done for her three decades ago, Greta-Jean Joliff, who now is the mother of three, reached out for them recently in a letter to "The Editor of the American Newspaper with the Widest Circulation."

The letter went to the New York Daily News, which published it. Publicity from the touching message reached Moksha Robert Wendell Smith and Harry Littlefield.

Smith, 56, and Littlefield, 61, who lived within 90 miles of each other in Washington State without realizing it, recalled the grief-stricken wait they had cared for and arrangements were made through the News for a reunion.

Smith and Littlefield arrived with their wives at Kennedy Airport on Sunday in time to greet Mrs. Joliff and her husband as they deplored from a flight from London.

"Everything has been wonderful and it is fantastic," said Mrs. Joliff, who turned 41 today. She is married to a railroad electrical technician.

"It's like something out of a movie," said Littlefield, a civil service heavy machine operator from Bellingham, Smith, a lawyer and real estate developer from Edmonds, said the incident was "so long ago I had nearly forgotten about it. I never ever expected to hear from her."

In her open letter to the former soldiers, Mrs. Joliff recalled their kindnesses and said, "If you two never did anything else in life, this one act alone made your lives worthwhile, and I thank God for you. I do hope you read this and recognize yourselves."

The three couples, flown here at the News' expense, will stay in suites at the Hotel Biltmore and spend three days renewing their acquaintance and touring the city.

"We have a lot of catching up to do," Mrs. Joliff said.

Murder motive lacking in girl's death

BELLEVEILLE, Ill. (AP) — Authorities say they have found no motive for the murder of Sabrina Jean Cain, 18, whose body was floating in a small lake near here Saturday.

Miss Cain, who was reported missing by her parents on Feb. 5, had been shot several times in the head and back, police said, before her bound body was dumped into the lake with a concrete block tied to it.

Authorities said they had not determined how long the girl had been dead or when she was put into the lake.

The body was discovered by two men who were target shooting.

Nixon is absent from convention

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP) — Even in spirit, the presence of Richard M. Nixon was virtually absent from the spring California Republican convention.

There was no customary resolution in support of the party's President, a native and voting resident of California.

During two days of speech-making, Nixon's name was rarely mentioned — except during a speech Saturday by Vice President Gerald R. Ford.

"The Democrats have announced their intention to turn the coming November election into a national referendum on President Nixon," Ford told a luncheon meeting.

"The issue is not RMN (Nixon's initials), but is as simple as ABC," the vice president said.

"ABC," Ford said, stood for basic party politics — opposed to the "trickery" of the 1972 Committee for the Re-election of the President "or any other CREEPs who are looking for an easy, unethical or illegal road to victory."

It was a sign of the times that Ford did not talk about building a Republican majority in Congress, or even maintaining the status quo GOP minority. He said the important thing was to keep the Democrats from getting a "stranglehold" on government that would threaten the two-party system.

While few convention delegates voiced their support of Nixon, the delegates who were critical of him or said he should resign generally would say so only in private.

In terms of applause, the undisputed star of California's Republican party was still Gov. Ronald Reagan.

His address dealt largely with Reagan administration accomplishments, the need for campaign reform and the difficulty of the election campaign ahead.

Reagan, a potential presidential candidate, did not mention Nixon by name and referred just once in his prepared remarks to the accomplishments of "a Republican administration."

Storm is blamed for plane crash

WHITE CITY, Kan. (AP) — The left wing was torn from a single-engine Beechcraft, apparently by high winds or lightning, before the airplane crashed near here Saturday, killing four, an investigation by the Federal Aviation Administration showed.

The dead were Richard Amen, 31, Copeland, Kan., the pilot; Bob Garlow, Concordia, Kan.; Dave McKenzie, New Brunswick, Canada; Rick Crouch, Leesburg, Fla., all 20 and students at Mid-America Nazarene College in Olathe, Kan.

Richard Malek, Morris County sheriff, said the FAA investigators found pieces of the wing more than a mile from the crash site.

The plane crashed near the farm home of H.V. Leitch, who said he heard "a sound like a sonic boom, then the motor went wild for maybe five or 10 seconds, then there was a second boom."

The plane had taken off shortly before from the Herington, Kan., airport, where it had stopped on a flight from Sublette in southwest Kansas to Olathe.

The college students had sung Friday night at a banquet at Sublette.

White City is about 40 miles northeast of Herington.

Gate crasher is still at it

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Who is that man walking arm-in-arm with Mae West, chatting with John Lindsay, shaking hands with President Nixon, posing with Harry Truman?

It's Morris Lieberman, retired furniture salesman and gate crasher extraordinaire.

For 46 years, Lieberman has been slipping through guarded doors and police lines to get his picture snapped with an array of celebrities. A photo gallery on the wall of his retirement home here offers graphic proof of his successes.

"Some men collect stamps and some men collect coins," says Lieberman, 62. "I go to parties and events and collect pictures. It's been my hobby."

Lieberman, originally from Cedarhurst, N.Y., recorded his biggest coups in New York City.

The bottle-jawed Lieberman says his hobby started accidentally in 1928 at the age of 16 when he went to hear New York Gov. Al Smith accept the Democratic presidential nomination.

By chance, Lieberman says he sat next to Smith's wife and wound up being ushered out with the Smith family by an honor guard of police. The next day, he was pictured on the front page of a local newspaper, standing proudly with the governor's family.

Lieberman refuses to disclose his gate crashing secrets, but eagerly talks about his favorite triumphs.

When former President Truman came to New York in 1956 to stump for Gov. Averell Harriman and other Democratic candidates, Lieberman joined the VIPs on the podium at a political rally.

Lieberman says Truman shook his hand and told him, "You look like a fine candidate — I'm sure you'll be successful."

In 1960, Lieberman said he grabbed a seat behind Pat Nixon on a platform in New York while then Vice President Richard Nixon made an address in his campaign for the presidency.

In another escapade, Lieberman donned a tuxedo and crashed the 1970 premier of the film "Myra Breckenridge."

As hundreds pushed and shoved for a close look at Mae West, Lieberman recalled he walked up to her limousine and said, "Mae, you look wonderful tonight."

Movie magazines in three countries later carried a picture of Lieberman escorting Miss West into the theater.

Last year, Lieberman joined in an invitation-only party for New York Mayor John V. Lindsay, who was leaving office after eight years.

Lieberman said he was talking with Lindsay when an aide leaned over and whispered in the mayor's ear, "Who the hell is that guy you're talking to?"

"I don't know who in the hell he is," Lieberman said Lindsay replied. "But I seem to run into him almost everywhere I go."

"They never know for sure who I am," Lieberman says. "They know they've seen me some place, or they think they have. Rather than risk offending someone important, they always went along and acted as though they knew me."

Honored

Miss Pam DeWitt, Route 5, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy DeWitt, has been selected as a member of the 1974 U.S. Honor Choir which will tour Scandinavia and Western Europe this summer. She was selected on the basis of participation in the state honor choir in January, recommendations of the faculty at Smithton High School and an audition tape recording. She is a student of Mrs. Tom Trout.

Will subpoena reporter about case publicity

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Defense attorneys for two men charged with mail fraud in the Victory Null murder case said they plan to subpoena a second reporter this week in their efforts to show that prejudicial publicity may have contributed to the indictment of the men.

Attorneys for James H. Calvert, 74, and his son Ronald, 39, filed motions Friday charging that St. Louis area newspapers, radio and television stations carried stories March 19 saying the men would be indicted by a grand jury the following day. The motion claims the stories influenced the members of the grand jury to return the indictments.

KSD radio reporter Lawson Phaby has refused to identify his source of information concerning the indictment story and the Calverts' attorneys said another reporter will be subpoenaed to testify at hearings scheduled for this week.

The Calverts are charged with conspiring to murder Null, 34, an inventor who was supposedly working on a revolutionary, pollution-free engine. The inventor, who was in partnership with the Calverts and on whose life $2,350,000 in insurance was purchased, was shot to death at his East St. Louis, Ill., office Nov. 8, 1972.

The Calverts, who live in St. Louis County, are to be tried June 3.

Gunshot and stab wounds fatal to man

ST. LOUIS (AP) — A 35-year-old man has died of stab and gunshot wounds apparently received during an argument with his wife, police said.

Authorities said Charles Richardson was dead on arrival at a city hospital Saturday night after police were called by his wife, Dorothy, 34.

Officers said Mrs. Richardson was booked on suspicion of murder.

200 Workers are jobless now

Judge refuses to open mine

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — U.S. District Court Judge Miles Lord today denied a request to stay his order which closed the Reserve Mining Co. taconite plant at Silver Bay.

The facility, which had discharged up to 67,000 tons of waste rock daily into Lake Superior, was closed Sunday as a health hazard.

In Silver Bay, some 200 Reserve employees lined up today to apply for unemployment benefits. Many of the men appeared physically exhausted. One attributed that to "simply the anxiety of not knowing what is going to happen."

In the court session Lord expressed concern for some 3,100 employees put out of work by his order Saturday.

Lord scolded Reserve and its two parent corporations for their part in the long trial which resulted in his order. He said it appeared that the firms would rather "make investments in their property somewhere else than at Silver Bay."

"I feel the workers and not the corporations are the ones who will suffer and my heart goes out to them," Lord said.

As court sessions resumed today, Reserve attorney Maclay Hyde, asked the court for a stay of his order until an appeal is filed. Lord denied that.

Hyde then said that Reserve and its parent firms would file an appeal later today and would seek a stay of Lord's order with the 8th Circuit Court of Appeals at St. Louis, Mo.

Lord said he is willing to sit down with labor unions to try to work out an arrangement for other taconite firms on the Iron Range to absorb the Reserve employees.

The judge suggested that maximum use could be made of commuter trains to haul workers from Silver Bay to other mining and processing sites in northeastern Minnesota.

Reserve produces about 15 per cent of the iron ore used in the nation's steelmaking blast furnaces.

In his order Saturday, Lord said the pollution of 67,000 tons of rock wastes a day into Lake Superior was endangering the health of five communities in Minnesota and Wisconsin which draw their drinking water from the lake.

The closing of the plant at Silver Bay and the Reserve mine at nearby Babbitt raised the long-range prospect of turning the two northeastern Minnesota communities into little more than welfare towns.

In all, 3,100 persons who earn $34 million a year are out of work in the two towns whose combined population is 6,500. Officials in the towns said virtually every one else who worked was there because of Reserve. The towns' tax base is Reserve, and they also face the prospect of being wiped out.

Lord said he had considered the tremendous economic impact of his decision, and said such an impact was not more important than the health of thousands of persons. Minnesota Gov. Wendell Anderson said Lord's decision was courageous and necessary.

Government troops face savage, 24-hour attack

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — The Cambodian government force sent to retake the town of Oudong appears doomed after being driven from its beachhead at nearby Kompong Luong in a savage 24-hour attack.

Diplomatic sources said no rescue operations were planned.

"There is no way to withdraw the troops from around Oudong," said one Asian diplomat. "They must fight to the death."

The rout of the 2,000-man force about 20 miles north of the capital city of Phnom Penh was considered a major setback for the government. Forty government soldiers were killed in the attack, with many wounded and hundreds missing, an army source said today.

The Cambodian military command said some of the troops succeeded in fighting their way to Longvek, two miles to the north, where the Khmer Rouge insurgents have another government force under siege.

The decisive Khmer Rouge attack followed a month of bloody battles around Kompong Luong, on the Tonle Sap river, where the government sent reinforcements after Oudong, the 17th century capital of the Khmer empire, was lost on March 18.

The beachhead on the west bank of the river 23 miles north of Phnom Penh was cut off a week ago. The Khmer Rouge strung wire and mines across the river, blocking it to the convoys that had been bringing supplies and reinforcements to Kompong Luong. Military sources said the order to withdraw came after the Khmer Rouge poured hundreds of rounds into the camp Saturday night and Sunday.

Meanwhile, in fighting around Kampot, the besieged port 85 miles southwest of Phnom Penh, government forces recaptured a railroad station about a mile north of the town and killed 36 Khmer Rouge, the military command reported.

Other government forces at Kampot killed 30 insurgents in the continuing attempt to reopen the four-mile shipping channel from the Gulf of Thailand. A total of 10 government troops were reported killed, 32 were reported wounded and the Khmer Rouge still controlled two miles of the channel.

In South Vietnam, government troops recaptured Base 711 near the Plei Me camp in the Central Highlands with only light resistance, the Saigon command announced.

The base, about 210 miles northeast of Saigon, was overrun Tuesday after being hit with 1,000 rounds of 130mm shell fire, mortars and rockets, and seven waves of infantry assaults, the command said.

Saigon military sources claim that about 600 North Vietnamese troops were killed in a week of fighting around Base 711, while government losses were nearly 100 dead and some 200 wounded.

The United States today withdrew 550 Air Force personnel and 19 jet fighters from the Korat Air Base 165 miles northwest of Bangkok. The withdrawal reduced the American force in Thailand to about 34,500 men and about 300 warplanes. The force is to be reduced to about 28,000 men by the end of the year.

Food Stamp

stamp allotment schedule is reviewed every six months, with increases in benefits to be allowed to compensate for inflation.

"This way," Blunt said, "for the first time, the amount of food you will be able to get will reflect changing times. This is something that wasn't possible before."

Noyd explained to the group that after eligibility has been confirmed with the county welfare office, all program enrollees will be mailed an authorization card which they will take to local banks when they purchase their food stamps. All Sedalia banks, he noted, have agreed to participate in the program.

Persons will then take the stamps to participating grocery stores where they will be able to select their groceries and pay for them with the stamps, he said.

The payment rate for stamps, and the number of stamps available to individual households will depend on several things, such as monthly income and legitimate deductions, Noyd indicated. The final determination of each party's proper food stamp limit and price is made by welfare caseworkers, it was explained.

It was noted at the meeting that registration for the program is now underway in the county.

Condition of Webb boy still serious

Robert Lee Webb, 3, remained in "serious" condition with a severe concussion Monday at the University of Missouri Medical Center, Columbia, where he was taken after being struck by a car Friday night.

Webb, the son of Mrs. Linda Marie Webb, 2205 South Ohio, was struck by a car driven by Howard G. McIntosh, 23, 1424 North Engineer. The accident occurred near the intersection of Fourth and Summit.

McIntosh was arrested at the scene for driving while intoxicated.

Versailles nursing home bonds signed; building to begin

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — State Auditor John D. Ashcroft signed today general obligation bonds valued at $495,000 to be used by the Good Shepherd Nursing Home District in Morgan County.

Funds from the bond sale will be used to construct a 60-bed addition to the Good Shepherd Nursing Home in Versailles.

Completion of the addition is scheduled for spring of 1975 and will increase the home's capacity to 120 beds.

The district covers about half of Morgan County and portions of Camden and Moniteau counties.

BULLETIN

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Two messages purporting to be from the Symbionese Liberation Army and threatening to execute five California police officers for any SLA member slain were received today by a Sacramento newspaper.

A tape recording and printed message, received in the mail by the Sacramento Bee, differed in style from the terrorist SLA which claims responsibility for the Feb. 4 kidnaping of newspaper heiress Patricia Hearst.

Open house event moved to courthouse

The open house scheduled for 7:30 o'clock tonight at the Manpower office has been moved to the Pettis County Courthouse, followed by refreshments served at the Manpower office itself at 113A East Fourth.

The meeting will be held in the Assembly Room, with Donald C. Love, Office of Economic Opportunity field representative from Jefferson City, as the featured speaker. Harry W. Walch, Pettis County presiding judge, will present certificates of appreciation to volunteers who helped promote the Missouri Valley Human Resource Development Corp., programs in the county during the past year.

Tuesday trial date planned for Phillips

(Democrat-Capital Service)

COLUMBIA — Kim Eugene Phillips, 22, will go on trial for second-degree murder at 9 a.m. tomorrow at Boone County Circuit Court here for the death of Mrs. Karen Jones.

The case is being heard here on a change of venue from Pettis County. Boone County Circuit Court Judge Frank Conley will preside at the jury trial.

Phillips, a former airman at Whiteman AFB, is charged with the Aug. 13 strangulation death of Mrs. Jones, 16, at her apartment at 1218 East Fifth. He was arrested Aug. 16.

Neil MacFarlane, an assistant state attorney general, will assist Pettis County Prosecuting Attorney Gary Fleming at the trial.

Sedalia attorney Adam Fischer is Phillips' court-appointed attorney. A spokesman for Fischer's office said Monday he will be assisted at the trial by James Durely, also a Sedalia attorney.

Phillips recently was declared mentally competent to stand trial after undergoing a mental examination at the state hospital at Fulton.

Three motions seeking to throw out oral and written statements allegedly given by Phillips to authorities and other physical evidence were to be heard by Judge Conley Monday afternoon. Phillips remains in the Boone County jail.

The bright side

According to Arthur Blech, President Nixon's tax lawyer, the President may not have to pay any taxes at all on his 1974 income, or very little in taxes.

The reason is that, although Mr. Nixon has agreed to pay the entire IRS assessment of some $476,000 on his income for the years 1969 through 1972, the statute of limitations has run out for 1969.

Thus the 1969 part of his payment, which accounts for the bulk of his tax bill, could be considered a gift to the government. The IRS allows a taxpayer to deduct such gifts up to 50 per cent of his adjusted gross income.

This means that if the President earns as much in 1974 as he did in 1973 — $250,000 in salary and expense account plus $18,000 from other sources — he could deduct $134,000.

"The man is entitled to the deduction," says Blech.

In addition to this, the President could write off $32,000 in interest on his unpaid back taxes, $55,000 in interest on mortgages and other loans, $24,000 in property taxes and about $23,000 in fees for his tax lawyers.

So there's a bright side to everything. And that gift of $134,000 would certainly be appreciated by the American public. (NEA)

Kids and clothes

What adult mind can fathom the mysteries of teen-age fashion?

We suspect that members of the over-35 generation were somewhat bemused by a recent ad appearing in The Democrat-Capitol boasting of blue jeans that were "guaranteed to shrink, wrinkle and fade."

There was a time when that kind of pitch would have guaranteed a no-sale. But with "recycled" (formerly known as "used") jeans today more highly prized than new ones, it's a different ball game.

Clothes may not make the man, but they do make for fascinating insights into the times.

"THIS AIN'T NO ORDINARY KIDNAPPING. WE'RE IDEALISTS."

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — Former Treasury Secretary John Connally tried to head off a Justice Department investigation of Jake Jacobsen, the dairy lobbyist, who has now confessed to the Watergate prosecutors that he delivered a $10,000 pay-off to Connally from the dairy industry.

We have established that Connally last year telephoned Richard Kleindienst, then the attorney general, and asked him to intervene in the Jacobsen case.

The Justice Department, nevertheless, went ahead with a double-barreled investigation of Jacobsen's role in the milk scandal and in an unrelated savings-and-loan case.

Jacobsen was called before a grand jury where he swore Connally had rejected the $10,000. The dairy lobbyist testified that he had stashed the money in a safe deposit box and hadn't touched it until the FBI opened the box.

The FBI found evidence to the contrary and the Watergate prosecutors began preparing a case against Jacobsen for perjury. Connally, inevitably, became involved in the investigation.

This was about the time that Archibald Cox was fired as the special Watergate prosecutor. Suddenly, Connally began pulling strings to name Cox's successor. Connally's choice was Leon Jaworski, whom President Nixon had once met at a party for Texas dignitaries at Connally's ranch.

White House sources tell us that Connally urged Jaworski's appointment upon the President. Connally also spoke to the President's staff chief, Alexander Haig, about Jaworski.

The appointment of Jaworski, therefore,

Merry-go-round

Connally not able to head off probe put Connally in the happy position of helping to choose the special prosecutor who would now investigate him. But if Connally expected a whitewash, he had misjudged Jaworski's character.

The new special prosecutor, a man of solid integrity, immediately removed himself from all decisions affecting his friend Connally. In a private memo to Deputy Prosecutor Henry Ruth, Jaworski gave his deputy responsibility for the milk case, with full authority to direct the investigation of Connally.

On Feb. 6, Jacobsen was indicted in the savings-and-loan case. Two weeks later, he was indicted again for lying to the grand jury about the $10,000.

This confronted Jacobsen, say his friends in Texas, with an agonizing human dilemma. He considered Connally probably his best friend and might even have been willing to go to prison for him. But Jacobsen's wife is in poor health and needs his constant attention.

He was forced to choose, we were told, between his wife and his best friend. After considerable soul wrenching, he offered to cooperate with the prosecutors in a bid for leniency.

He told them he had delivered the $10,000 to Connally at the Treasury Department. After the milk scandal broke into the headlines, Connally returned the money and they agreed upon a cover story, Jacobsen said. Jacobsen promised to say he had not delivered the $10,000 to Connally but had kept it in a safe deposit box.

Later, Connally brought a second $10,000 bundle to exchange for the first, because he became apprehensive that the first bills could be traced, Jacobsen told the prosecutors.

Connally has flatly denied Jacobsen's story. He told us that Jacobsen told the truth the first time. We couldn't reach Connally for comment on the latest developments related in this column.

WASHINGTON WHIRL: Vice President Gerald Ford has promised Republican leaders he will put loyalty to the party ahead of loyalty to the President, one of the leaders has told us. A week before the latest Republican loss in Michigan, GOP strategists estimated secretly they would lose 30 House seats in November. The day after, they revised the estimate to 62. Sources close to the impeachment inquiry tell us the House should be ready to vote around July 15 whether to impeach President Nixon. The bill of particulars, our sources say, will definitely include allegations that the President was involved in the Watergate cover-up and the ITT affair. The staff is still investigating whether to include charges of tax fraud.

The political animosity between the presidential staff and the House impeachment staff has failed to break up a friendship between Dick Hauser, an attorney on President Nixon's defense team, and Tim Oliphant, a lawyer preparing impeachment charges against the President. We recently reported that the slaughter of rare Australian kangaroos was encouraged by the Interior Department's failure to ban the importation of their skins. Within 10 days, the department moved to protect the furry marsupials. A jurisdictional dispute between the Interior and Commerce Departments, meanwhile, is holding up the protection of sea turtles. They have dwindled from 50 million to a mere 10,000 in the Caribbean and may soon become extinct.

A conservative view Nixon is nit-picker of press

By JAMES J. KILPATRICK

WASHINGTON — In any catalog of President Nixon's troubles, a certain incongruity would rank high on the list. One part of him — the best part — is the world statesman, seeking peace unto the year 2000. Another part of him — a most regrettable part — is the thin-skinned politician, fretting at the gnat-swarm irritations of the press.

Kilpatrick

This combination of bigness and littleness surely is not unique to Mr. Nixon. Doubtless every president has manifested the same symptoms to some degree. One recalls Harry Truman and the music critic, Dwight Eisenhower's private tantrums, John Kennedy's anathema upon the Herald-Tribune, Lyndon Johnson's boiling rages. Farther back in our history, Thomas Jefferson repeatedly denounced the newspapers with an eloquence Mr. Nixon has never approached.

Yet other Presidents, in other times, had something going for them that Mr. Nixon does not have. Their lapses from greatness made them "only human." Mr. Nixon, alas, is made to seem only paranoid.

This past week, Connecticut's Sen. Lowell Weicker made public another set of White House documents acquired by the Senate select committee in the course of its Watergate hearings. Among the documents is a memorandum prepared for H. R. Haldeman by Jeb Stuart Magruder in mid-October, 1969. It is a detailed list of "approximately 21 requests from the President in the last 30 days requesting specific action relating to what could be considered unfair news coverage."

The list is too long to quote in full here. A few examples will have to suffice. On Sept. 23, the President had read an Evans-Novak column charging that Nixon was retreating on tax reform; the President wanted some answers prepared. Ralph Nader had said the President was paying too little attention to consumer affairs; the President wanted Nader put straight. Life magazine had carried a critical editorial; Hebert Klein and Ron Ziegler were directed to mount a counterattack. On Oct. 7, John Chancellor of NBC had said something unfavorable about the nomination of Clement Haynsworth to the Supreme Court; the President instructed Klein "that you demand equal time."

Magruder's memorandum chronicles half a dozen instances in which the President himself proposed to bend the press to his own image-making purposes: Klein was asked to tell the Chicago Tribune's Walter Trohan "about our substantive programs." The President wanted Klein to arrange "letters to the editor of Newsweek mentioning the President's tremendous reception in Mississippi." The President directed Pat Buchanan "to inform appropriate columnists of the extemporaneous character of presidential press conferences."

What emerges from this poignant document is a picture of a President suffering from a terrible insecurity. The least little thing — some remarks by Senator Muskie on a Merv Griffin show — was enough to trigger a presidential request for counter-action. He was frittering away some significant amount of his time and energy worrying about Dan Rather, Jack Anderson, and Howard K. Smith. And this went on day after day after day.

At the time Magruder's summary was prepared, in the fall of 1969, Richard Nixon had been actively in public life for more than 20 years — as congressman, senator, vice president, candidate for governor of California, and winning candidate for president. He was then beginning the delicate and difficult overtures that eventually would lead to Peking. He was meeting with the heads of state of Israel, Mexico, New Zealand and Iran. Yet neither his long experience nor his heavy schedule allowed him to ignore the petty chirping of the daily press. Memorandum to Herb Klein: The President requests "that you contact Howard K. Smith and give him the true record on what the administration has done."

This same defensive obsession runs through much of the Watergate story. Time after time this complex and sensitive man, whose greatest gift in world affairs is to see the big picture, has lost the big picture entirely. And one of the reasons he now faces his greatest political crisis is that when he should have been looking at the forest, he was looking at the trees instead.

"Oh for heaven's sake, don't worry so much about disassociating yourself from the President. You're running for the school board!"

U.S. should develop a world food plan

WASHINGTON — You've been in enough gasoline lines to know that we and much of the world are beset by an energy shortage.

You've anguished enough over the price of fuel and food, or even the price of money, to know that inflation is a threat to our well-being.

Rowan

But are you aware of what is happening on a world scale, and how much the very survival of millions is influenced by our policies — or lack of a policy?

James P. Grant, president of the Overseas Development Council, recently made this statement to the Senate subcommittee on Foreign Agricultural Policy:

"The doubling to quadrupling of food and energy prices dooms millions to premature deaths from increased malnutrition and even outright starvation."

The only question, and one Americans CAN influence, is: how many millions?"

Grant pointed out that we are moving from two decades of relative global abundance into an era of chronically tight supplies of essential foodstuffs — even though we Americans have pressed into production croplands that lay idle for years.

Even as the people of rich countries consume like gluttons, the people of poor countries produce larger populations — so we get not only a crushing demand for foodgrains but overfishing, which has limited that supply of important protein. Global reserves, which stood at 69 days of consumption in 1970, have dwindled to less than 30 days of food supply.

And now we are on the verge of dog-eat-dog international bickering over oil, fertilizer, grains and other raw materials so essential to survival.

In my last column, I referred to a disappointing speech at the United Nations by Secretary of State Henry Kissinger. Americans must remain acutely aware of our shortcomings which Kissinger did not make clear.

Kissinger said the United States would offer its technological skills to develop new fertilizer industries in oil-producing countries. Fine. But it does nothing to alleviate the current fertilizer shortage which will last for three to five years, no matter how much technology we promise to export.

This shortage is going to interrupt, if not stifle, the "green revolution" which is based on new breeds of rice and wheat seeds that require the heavy use of fertilizers. And talk of food self-sufficiency will be replaced by wails of famine in India and other countries of Asia and Africa.

We implore the oil-producing nations to hold prices down and show a sense of high responsibility regarding the petroleum that is needed to produce the fertilizer.

But we ask high morality of others while we show callous irresponsibility.

Grant pointed out that in 1954 Americans declared it "the policy of the United States to use (our) abundant productivity to combat hunger and malnutrition and to encourage development in the developing countries" through concessional sales and humanitarian grants of food under PL 480.

To put it bluntly, our PL 480 "Food for Peace" has gone to hell, much as has foreign aid in general.

Grant cited Department of Agriculture figures showing that, in Title I sales under long-term loans, "The total quantity of grains and high protein products shipped ... fell in 1974 to less than one-third the 1972 levels. Milk shipments dried up entirely."

Beyond that, half the wheat, two-thirds the feedgrains, and all the rice shipped under Title I went to South Vietnam, Cambodia, Jordan and Israel — countries in which the United States' interest is more military security than humanitarian.

Grant cited "a devastating decline" in the quantity of food supplied for hungry mothers, infants, school children and for disaster relief in the Sahel region of Africa and Ethiopia. "Wheat shipments are half of last year's, and rice and milk shipments have disappeared (This) is having Bags of ice cubes

 are energy aids

By POLLY CRAMER
 DEAR POLLY — I'm a fresh new "Ark" from Chicago with some thoughts about the use of refrigerators and freezers during the crisis of energy. To be ready for a loss of power or electricity keep freezer and/or freezer compartment full as quantities of food diminish. Replace food packages with bags of ice cubes. Then in case of a current shutoff a bag of ice can be transferred to the refrigerator part and the unit acts just like an old-fashioned ice box and keeps the foods cold until current is back on. Around here (Rogers, Ark.) ice is free for the taking. My dollar will go to The Salvation Army. Thank you. — MRS. W.J.C.

DEAR POLLY — I have two Pet Peeves. One is with those people who rush through a crowded elevator to be the first out the door and then block the way of others while they decide where they are going.

Also it peeves me when a restaurant serves such a full glass of unsweetened iced tea that when sugar is added and the tea is stirred it spills all over everything. — FAY.

DEAR POLLY — and Esther — When canning or preserving with two-piece jar lids the contents of the jars are hot and expanded so the lids are bulged out. As the contents cool the lids go down flat making a popping noise. Any jar that has a bulged out lid when cool should be reheated, contents put in another jar and resealed with a new lid or eaten at once. — A.L.

DEAR GIRLS — A home economist of the government home extension service told me that when the inner porcelain-lined circle to a two-piece top is put on firmly and the ring screwed on, often, but not always, the pop occurs when the vacuum seals. The outer ring can then be removed even though many seem afraid to do this. If the top is bulged out the food will be lost anyway — the necessary part is the adherence of the inner part of the top. However, I was told that different manufacturers of such tops give different instructions. Those given by the maker of the top used should be followed strictly. — POLLY.

DEAR POLLY — When the fingers of rubber dish washing gloves are worn out the corrugated palms of the gloves are cut out and used as aids in opening jars. They grip the jar lids very well. — MRS. J.P.R.

DEAR POLLY — My Pet Peeve is with the poultry producers who put the heart, liver, neck, etc., inside the frozen bird and then we housewives cannot get them out for cooking to make dressing. They would thaw so much faster if put in a bag that was attached to the outside of the bird. I have written to the national association of poultry producers and it might help if some more of the girls wrote, too. — MRS. M.K.

Polly's problem

DEAR POLLY — In case of a death should the close relatives sign the register that the undertaker places in the funeral home, the home or church as the case may be? When one loses a child, husband or wife should this person's mother, father, sisters and brothers sign the book? I was under the impression that only friends, neighbors and relatives who live far away or are not around much should sign this book to let the close family know they were present. Am I right or wrong? — A.H.

You will receive a dollar if Polly uses your favorite home-making idea, Pet Peeve, Polly's Problem or solution to a problem. Write Polly in care of this newspaper. (NEA)

Inmates form
 Jay-shes chapter

TIPTON — Calling themselves the Jay-shes, 32 women of the State Correctional Center for Women have organized, been chartered and sponsored as an auxiliary group by the Tipton Jaycee Wives.

The prison chapter held an open house and bazaar at the women's institution from 1 to 4 p.m. Saturday for legislators, parole officers and the national Group of Jaycee Wives in order to acquaint themselves with specific needs of the community and to raise funds to finance their project.

The women inmates, confined to the grounds of the institution, hope to reach out into the community by participation in charitable and civic activities.

The Jay-shes already have an active drug abuse group, which speaks at Whiteman AFB on a monthly basis and has appeared at various clubs, schools, churches and colleges in the area.

The Braille Institute for the Blind will also be contacted for selected Jay-She women to read tapes for the library maintained for the blind.

The prison group, initiated by Mrs. Greer Knipp of Tipton Jaycee Wives, has the approval of Mrs. Dorothy Stoll, acting superintendent of the correctional center. Mrs. Stoll has already successfully inaugurated a program where qualified inmates are allowed to leave the prison ground to work for local business men during the day and return to the prison at night.

Inmate officers of the group are Gail Conquest, president; Roberta House and Barbara Alexander, vice presidents; Carolyn Dillard, secretary; Wendy Holzwarth, treasurer; and Peggy Russell, public relations.

 The country is being swamped with nostalgia in new movies and TV shows, on records, in 1920s through 1950s — styled clothing and make-up. And we seem to be enjoying the experience. Latest in the "It was a good time, it was the best time" ventures in the refilming of the F. Scott Fitzgerald classic, "The Great Gatsby." His time, for many, was the greatest time. Those who want to recapture the era in an at-home party can take a cue from Nick's party for 500 guests seen in the current film. The elaborate 50-foot-long banquet tables in the movie do reflect parties of the era, with three-foot lobster trees, crown roasts, Coq au vin, suckling pig, carved watermelon baskets, planked salmon, sardines, duck, turkey galantine and the like and Ballantine's scotch, drunk neat in those relatively ice-cubeless days.

STEAK AND KIDNEY PIE
 1 one-pound beef kidney
 2 tablespoons vinegar
 1/4 cup bacon drippings
 2 teaspoons salt
 10 small white onions, about 1/4 pound
 1 pound diced chuck
 1 pound diced pared potatoes
 Plain pastry for single crust

Split kidney and remove cores, tubes and membranous covering. Soak 30 minutes in 1 quart cold water with vinegar added. Drain, dice and brown kidney in 2 tablespoons bacon fat. Barely cover with water and add 1 teaspoon salt. Simmer slowly until tender, about 30 to 45 minutes. Add water as needed to cover kidney with liquid. Cut onions in halves or quarters and saute in remaining fat until slightly browned. Add diced meat and remaining salt and continue cooking over moderate heat, stirring frequently for 20 minutes or until meat is nicely browned. Meanwhile, cook potatoes until tender in just enough boiling salted water to cover. Add kidney and potatoes with their cooking water to the diced meat. Thicken gravy if desired. Turn into an 8-inch casserole. Cover with plain pastry. Cut vents in several places to let steam escape and bake in 425-degree oven for about 20 minutes or until crust is nicely browned. Serve piping hot. Makes 5 servings.

EGG, SALMON, ASPARAGUS SALAD
 6 ounces smoked salmon
 5 hard-cooked eggs
 1/2 cup chopped celery
 1/4 cup mayonnaise
 salt to taste
 lettuce
 6 tender asparagus spears
 2 tablespoons finely cut chives

In a small mixing bowl, peel and dice cooked eggs. Add celery, mayonnaise and salt to taste. Mix lightly. Place on lettuce-lined individual salad plates. Garnish with strips of salmon and thinly sliced chives.

Sun and hair

Sunshine can be deadly for the hair. A little sun will do wonders for added highlights, but anything more than that will result in dry, burned locks. Protect your hair overexposure with a floppy straw hat or bright scarves while sunning on the beach. Also, be sure to use a conditioner during the summer months.

Flexible rhinestone necklaces and bracelets add glamour and zing to the simplest evening dress or pants outfit.

For Women

Breast cancer detection for Saline County women

Mrs. Max Thomas, Sweet Springs, and Mrs. Frank McGraw, Marshall, have volunteered to serve as Saline County coordinators for the Missouri National Cancer Institute-American Cancer Society Breast Cancer Detection Project.

The project, based at the Cancer Research Center in Columbia, will provide free breast cancer detection examinations for women 35 years and older. The screening will include a detailed analysis of the medical history, careful clinical examination, thermography and X-ray of the breasts.

At present rates, one of every 15 women will develop breast cancer at some time, but it is almost completely curable when detected early. The American Cancer Society and the National Cancer Institute are trying to make mass screening available to women at risk of developing breast cancer.

For more information, contact Mrs. Max Thomas, Sweet Springs, 335-4129 or Mrs. Frank McGraw, Marshall, 886-3402.

Nettles extends streak

Freak play cuts short Rangers' bid

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON.
AP Sports Writer

Flattery is supposed to get you nowhere, but it got Toby Harrah of the Texas Rangers a quick trip to the dugout Sunday.

The Rangers, trailing the Minnesota Twins 5-0, had the bases loaded with none out — Harrah was on second — in the seventh inning of a game they eventually lost 8-2. Jeff Burroughs slashed a grounder toward short and the ball hit Harrah.

That's when the fun started. Ron Luciano, the second base umpire, ruled Harrah deliberately ran into the ball. He called both Harrah and Burroughs out for a double play with no advance.

Luciano told Harrah, "A good baserunner would try to get hit in a situation like that and you're a good baserunner."

Since there wasn't much he could say to that, Harrah's next performance was a slow trip back to the bench while Burroughs was ejected from the game and Manager Billy Martin protested it.

The umpires also had their problems in Baltimore. The Orioles edged New York 6-5 in 13 innings in the opener of a doubleheader and then protested the nightcap, which they lost 3-0. Baltimore complained that Yankee coach Whitey Ford violated the rules by making two trips to the mound in the sixth inning with the same batter at the plate to talk to hurler Sam McDowell.

Elsewhere in the American League, the California Angels bombed the Oakland A's 9-5, the Detroit Tigers nipped the Milwaukee Brewers 6-5 in 14 innings, the Boston Red Sox edged the Cleveland Indians 6-5 in 10 and the Chicago White Sox outslugged the Kansas City Royals 11-7.

Orioles 6-0, Yankees 5-3
Craig Nettles drove in his 20th run of the season with a single in the sixth inning of the nightcap and stretched his RBI streak to nine consecutive games, two short of the major league record. The Orioles won the first game in 13 innings when rookie Mike Reinbach singled home Earl Williams from second base. Nettles hit his ninth home run in the opener.

Sam McDowell collaborated with Fred Beene on the four-hit shutout in the nightcap, pitching the first 51-3 innings.

Angels 9, A's 5
Lee Stanton's three-run homer capped a six-run California explosion in the eighth inning against Vida Blue, Rolie Fingers and Darold Knowles.

Tigers 6, Brewers 5
Jim Northrup doubled with two out in the 14th inning off Tom Murphy and scored the winning run on Al Kaline's single.

Red Sox 6, Indians 5
Dick McAuliffe scored the winning run from second base on a wild pickoff throw by Cleveland pitcher Milt Wilcox in the 10th inning.

Patek forced at second

Kansas City's Fred Patek (37) is forced at second base by Chicago White Sox shortstop Eddie Leon after Cookie Rojas hit to second baseman Jorge Orta in the second inning of Sunday's 11-7 Royals' loss to Chicago. (UPI)

Triple trouble strikes down Royals, Cardinals

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Kansas City Royals and the St. Louis Cardinals both ran into triple trouble Sunday.

The Royals yielded to the Chicago White Sox 11-7 on Brian Downing's bases-loaded triple that highlighted a seven-run sixth inning outburst.

St. Louis and Bob Gibson lost to Montreal 9-5, and it was Tim Foli's triple, scoring a run, in the first inning that sent the Expos off and running.

Gibson, 0-2, was wild, and the Expos capitalized on it. The Cardinals got their runs on Ted Sizemore's double, sacrifice flies by Reggie Smith and Joe Torre and a two-run triple by Luis Melendez.

Downing also hit a home run for the White Sox and got his triple off reliever Lindy McDaniel, who had taken over for Steve Busby, 2-2, during the big uprising.

The Royals let a 6-4 lead get away. Kansas City had a two-run homer by John Mayberry, a solo homer by Tony Salaita and a run-scoring double by Cookie Rojas.

The Royals invade Boston tonight and will pitch Nelson Briles, 0-0, against Rick Wise, 1-1, of the Red Sox. The Cards are idle.

header, Cincinnati crushed San Diego 10-1 before the Padres earned a split with a 7-2 nightcap triumph.

Astros 4, Braves 3
Henry Aaron belted the 717th home run of his career but Bob Watson slugged a game-tying two-run homer in the eighth inning for Houston and Tommy Helms later hit a deadlock-breaking, bases-loaded single that beat the Braves.

Phillies 7, Cubs 3
Greg Luzinski rapped a pair of singles and a double and drove in three runs for the Phillies.

Steve Carlton limited the Cubs to seven hits Sunday and struck out 12 for his second victory of the season without a loss. Philadelphia wrapped up the victory with a four-run fifth-inning burst capped by Mike Anderson's homer.

Giants 6, Dodgers 4
The Dodgers' Andy Messersmith carried a four-hit, 4-1 lead into the eighth inning. Then the roof caved in. He gave up a double to Dave Rader and walked Gary Matthews and Bobby Bonds.

Mike Marshall replaced Messersmith and Mike Phillips responded with a bases-clearing double to tie the game. One out later, Steve Ontiveros singled to untie it, then he came around on singles by Gary Thomasson and Chris Speier.

Reds 10-2, Padres 1-7
A seven-run first inning highlighted by Dave Concepcion's first career grand-slam homer gave Cincinnati all the runs it needed in the first-game swamping of San Diego.

San Diego's Bob Barton and Bobby Tolan combined to drive in three runs against their former teammates and Bill Greif scattered five hits for the Padres in the finale.

Winner's Circle jackpot goes to Jo Ann Prentice

By RON ROACH
AP Sports Writer

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — At Augusta, the male Masters champion wears a green coat. At Dinah Shore's Winner's Circle, Jo Ann Prentice said she dressed in green "because that's all I had clean in my closet."

Jackie Pung, LPGA Hall-of-Famer from Hawaii, adorned Miss Prentice with green leis after the 41-year-old Alabamian "punched a little four-iron" from the tee to within four feet of the flag on the fourth playoff hole. Then she sank the birdie putt to defeat Jane Blalock for the $32,000 first prize.

The richest tournament in the history of women's golf, a total purse of $200,000, is considered by the gals as prestigious to ners Circle champion when the first prize was $20,000, had birdied the 157-yard No. 17 on the tournament's 71st hole by hitting to within 18 inches of the flag.

That same hole on the Mission Hill's course came up as the fourth playoff hole and she followed Jo Ann's sensational shot by leaving herself about a 12-footer.

Sandra Haynie, the 54-hole leader, shot a 74, bogeying the 14th when she hit into water. She regained a share of the lead when Miss Prentice three-putted No. 17 from about 45 feet, missing about a three-foot putt. Miss Blalock birdied 18 — with a six-foot putt and the trio, tied at one-over-par 289, returned to the 14th hole to start the sudden death playoff.

Miss Haynie was short on a six-foot putt for a bogey on the second playoff hole, leaving Jo Ann and Jane who had 73s to fight for the $14,500 difference as second place money of $21,000 and $14,000 for third was shared by the playoff losers.

Jo Ann's tee shot on the third playoff hole hit a three stake, becoming back into the fairway, and she scrambled to make par. Memory of her three-putt bogey earlier on 17 was still fresh in her mind.

Wins Monsanto Open

Lee Elder first black to qualify for Masters

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP) — There's no longer any question about it.

"I will definitely accept an invitation to the Masters and I will definitely play in the Masters," Lee Elder told The Associated Press in the wake of his victory in the Monsanto Open Golf Tournament Sunday.

Elder's triumph, secured by a birdie on the fourth hole of a sudden-death playoff with England's Peter Oosterhuis, made him the first black ever eligible to compete in the famed event in Augusta, Ga. — until now an all-white affair.

For a while, Elder left things up in the air about accepting the invitation.

"It's a year away," he said. "I'll have to weigh that somewhat. This (a victory) has been a long time coming. I really don't want to be put on the spot as to yea or nay right now. I'll have to weigh it carefully."

"There's a lot of tournaments and a lot of playing to be done between now and then. Anything can happen," Elder said.

Moments later, Clifford Roberts, the man who runs the all-invitational Masters, issued a statement saying Elder definitely will be extended an invitation to the 1975 Masters.

"He has earned his invitation and we are very delighted he has done so," Roberts said.

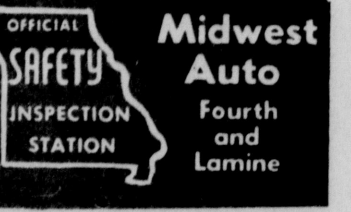

"That's fine," Elder said. "Tell Mr. Roberts I'll see him at the Masters."

Celtics solidify lead on 98-91 win over Knicks

NEW YORK (AP) — The aura of invincibility that once surrounded the New York Knicks before their wildly enthusiastic home fans — and frightened opposing teams — appears to be disappearing at least as far as the Boston Celtics are concerned.

"The crowd yelling is not always to the benefit of the home club," suggested Boston Coach Tom Heinsohn after the swift and brawny Celtics had raced and battled to a 98-91 victory over the Knicks Sunday before a capacity crowd of 19,964 at Madison Square Garden and a national television audience.

"In that situation, our guys tend to get super psyched up," added Heinsohn, who also indicated that the National Basketball Association Eastern Conference final series might be taking on "a reverse home court edge."

The triumph gave the Celtics a solid 3-1 lead in the best-of-seven competition and put the Knicks, defending NBA champions, on the brink of elimination from the playoffs. The Celtics could clinch the series with a victory in Game Five Wednesday night at Boston Garden.

"I'm still confident," said Walt Frazier, the Knicks' high scorer with 25 points. "If we can beat them up there again, I don't think they can beat us three straight at Madison Square Garden."

"It's very unusual for us to win two games in New York," said John Havlicek, Boston's captain and leader with 36 points. "They're a very good team at home."

If the Celtics eliminate the Knicks, they likely will face the Milwaukee Bucks for the league title. The Bucks, with a 3-0 lead over Chicago following their 113-90 triumph Saturday, can end their Western Conference final series tonight by beating the Bulls at Milwaukee.

In the American Basketball Association, the New York Nets won the East Division playoff title and qualified for the final round, trouncing the Kentucky Colonels 103-90 Saturday night and completing a 4-0 sweep. In the West, the Utah Stars — minus ailing center Zelmo Beaty — will try to oust the Indiana Pacers tonight in Game Five at Salt Lake City. Utah leads the series 3-1.

Expect more injunctions

DALLAS (AP) — A rash of injunctions and restraining orders was expected around the National Football League today in the wake of the Dallas Cowboys' midnight action Sunday against the World Football League.

The Cowboys were the second NFL club to take such action, but apparently they were not the last. Cincinnati procured a similar order Friday and Miami managing general partner Joe Robbie indicated the Dolphins might take similar action.

The restraining order signed here by State District Court Judge Ted Aikin prohibits the WFL from dealing with Cowboy players and keeps running back Calvin Hill and quarterback Craig Morton from promoting the WFL teams they have signed with for the 1975 season.

The restraining order, in effect until April 30, also forbids Morton and Hill from attempting to attract other players to either Houston or Hawaii. A WFL spokesman in Los Angeles said there would be no comment until league lawyers study the case.

In recent weeks, the Cowboys have lost Hill, a formidable ground gainer; Morton, a strong-arm passer; and stellar split-end Mike Montgomery to WFL teams. They've also seen three draft choices choose the fledgling WFL.

Then, a Dallas spokesman said, the Cowboys learned that offensive lineman Rayfield Wright was dickering with an unnamed WFL club. He told the Cowboys they must meet his contract demands or he, too, would be gone.

Bill Sims, an attorney for the Cowboys who sought the restraining order from Judge Aikin, said they also would seek to void contracts signed by Morton, Hill and Montgomery with WFL clubs.

Sims said the Cowboys would try for a permanent injunction, but no hearing date was set immediately.

After the Cowboy action, the Miami Dolphins said they were contemplating court action to retain the services of running backs Larry Csonka and Jim Kiick and receiver Paul Warfield, three stars who defected to Toronto of the WFL.

The Bengals Friday gained a temporary injunction against the WFL for signing Bill Bergey, Cincinnati linebacker. Among other things, the Bengals seek to rescind Bergey's contract with the WFL's Virginia Ambassadors on grounds that it "undermines" Bergey's obligations to Cincinnati.

Richard Petty wins Gwyn Staley race by 2 miles over Yarborough

NORTH WILKESBORO, N.C. (AP) — When they were winning pennants year after year, there was a saying that one should never bet against the Yankees.

There's an even more iron-clad rule in auto racing: you should never, never discount Richard Petty's uncanny ability to find victory circle.

The 36-year-old king of Grand National stock cars won his 159th career victory in Sunday's Gwyn Staley Memorial 400 when, by all odds, he shouldn't have.

Petty, using a hastily-built $50,000 mid-sized engine in his familiar red and blue Dodge for the first time, so dominated the short track event at scenic North Wilkesboro Speedway that he led all but 24 of the 360 laps around the five-eighths of a mile oval. Not only that, his victory margin over Chevrolet-driving Cale Yarborough was an astounding two miles.

The tall, proud Petty, a $1.5 million career winner, had been forced against his better judgement into the small-engine class when the National Association for Stock Car Auto Racing placed severe carburetor handicaps on big engines of the sort he had been using for years.

The Pettys, who build their always-potent racing cars in a tight little compound at Randleman, N.C., had no small engines in their inventory. They started work on the complex task of building one from scratch only three weeks ago.

The mini-engine ran like a well-oiled sewing machine all day as Petty moved into the lead on the 22nd circuit and lost it only once thereafter.

Petty needed only 2 hours, 20 minutes and 20 seconds to complete the 225 miles for a speed of 96.200 miles per hour. He was paid $62,500.

Third place went to Bobby Allison, whose Chevrolet led the first 21 laps; fourth place went to 1973 grand National Champion Benny Parsons and fifth to Lennie Pond, last year's rookie of the year, both in Chevrolets.

$2,000 payday for Midland, Mich. racer

Tom Maier cleans up twice at I-70 Speedway

By VAUGHN HART
Sports Editor

ODESSA — Tom Maier's national batting average was 78 per cent when he was behind the wheel of his 1973 Camaro last year. He won 48 feature events — all invitational. The talented Midland, Mich., racer battled 1,000 at Sunday's I-70 Speedway season opener here, winning both ends of the twin-100-lap late model stock car features.

Maier, who posted one of his 48 feature victories here last year winning the rich Springtime 200, couldn't be overcome; not even when he was forced to come from the tail end of the field to win the second leg of the program.

"I didn't like the fact that they (track officials) inverted the entire field," Maier said after his doubleheader sweep of the afternoon's $10,000 program was over.

"I can see inverting 12 or 15 cars, but it's a little dangerous. I think, to turn around the whole field," he added.

What Maier said and what he looked like on the track were two completely different things, as he skillfully threaded his way through the pack and into the lead of the second race.

Maier overcame Larry Phillips, Springfield, on the 81st lap of the nightcap and held off the charge of Phillips and famed Dick Trickle, Wisconsin Rapids, Wisc., to claim his second $1,000 check of the day.

Phillips' effort was a story in itself. He blew an engine on the 20th lap of the first race and it looked like he was through for the day. However, Phillips and his crew pulled the engine and got another one installed in time for second event. Starting on the front row, Phillips held the lead until Maier got past him on the 81st lap.

From then on it was a heated, three-car battle to the checker between Maier, Phillips and Trickle, who finished in that order.

On the 95th lap, Maier bob-bed a little coming out of the fourth turn, but he managed to get the car back in shape before the other two could make a move and get past him.

Maier bided his time in the first race and took command midway when pole-sitter Bob Senneker, Dorr, Mich., blew a fuel pump.

Maier warded off the charge of Trickle, who was not behind the wheel of his familiar No. 99 Mustang. He wrecked that car at Rolla Saturday night. Trickle drove a 1970 Mustang that he built and sold during the winter.

Terry Bivins, Shawnee, Kan., piloted his 1972 Nova to third in the first event. But Bivins had to borrow a car for the second race and could do no better than 10th.

David Goldsberry, Bolivar, was fourth in the opener in his '72 Camaro; fifth went to Fred Whisler, Independence in a '73 Camaro.

Sixth through 10th in the first race went to the following drivers: Joe Frasson, Golden Valley, Minn., 1973 Camaro; Joe Wallace, Peyton, Colo., 1973 Chevelle; Ferris Collier, Lampe, Mo., 1974 Chevelle; Terry Brumley, Springfield, 1968 Camaro; Willie Crane, Springfield, 1972 Ventura.

Jim Bickerstaff, Niles, Ohio, who set fast time in his 1973 Camaro, placed fourth in the second event, followed by Dave Wall, Kansas City, Kan., who piloted a 1972 Nova.

Goldsberry was sixth, seventh went to Brumley, while Frasson, Larry Ball of Springfield, and Bivins rounded out the top 10 in the second event.

A near capacity crowd of more than 6,900 spectators was on hand for the season opener. The speedway's next program is the Springtime 200, May 4-5.

Rahal outduels weather, field to win SCCA race

STUTTGART, Ark. (AP) — Robert Rahal of Grandville, Ohio, won the Grand Prairie Grand Prix national race here Sunday by more than one lap despite heavy rains and a slick track.

Rahal, a Dennison University student, was driving a 1,100-pound, 290-horsepower Lola. He put maneuvered—and on some turns outswam—his heavier and more powerful competitors to take the 20-lap race.

Weather and mechanical problems forced several pre-race favorites to drop out on the eight-turn course.

Fred Parkhill of Tulsa, Okla.,

two-time featured race winner at Stuttgart, withdrew his 494-horsepower sports racer because of an oil leak and the slick track.

David Loring of Shawnee Mission, Kan., drove his Meryl MK 20A to a first place in the fifth race, a contest featuring the larger formula cars.

The smallest car race was won by Bob Hubbard, a Columbia, Mo., automobile dealer who drove a Midget.

The races Sunday were for qualifying points for the National Sports Car Club of America's national championship race at Atlanta.

Oklahoma pads loop lead

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The Kansas State baseball team is in a peculiar spot in the Big Eight Conference race.

The Wildcats have battled into second place but still face tremendous odds in their struggle to overhaul the sizzling Sooners of Oklahoma in the championship drive.

Both Oklahoma, 11-1, and K-State, 8-4, have nine games remaining. If the Sooners win only five, the Wildcats have to win them all to gain the crown.

Missouri, 7-5, is in even a worse situation. After these three teams, it appears nobody has even an outside chance.

Oklahoma put something of a damper on the hopes of the Wildcats and the Tigers by sweeping all three games over the weekend from Iowa State, all by shutouts. The Sooners completed the sweep Saturday with a 6-0 triumph on Mickey Lashley's three-hitter and got the only run they needed on Jackie Parish's run-scoring double.

Kansas State matched the Sooners' triple success by winning three from Oklahoma State, just about knocking the Cowboys out of contention. Dave Tuttle and Mike Hampton combined for a two-hitter for the Wildcats in Sunday's finale in which the Wildcats thrashed the Cowpokes 12-0.

Missouri, after taking both ends of Friday's doubleheader, yielded to Nebraska Saturday 7-3. Home runs by Jim Smith, Ron Miltenberger and Norm Gliffmann powered the Cornhuskers to their first conference victory.

Colorado salvaged the rubber game in its weekend series with Kansas by nipping the Jayhawks 6-5 in 11 innings Saturday. Bob Nickeson singled in Dan Mestas with the winning tally.

LA MANGA, Spain — American Jerry Heard finished with a nine-under-par 279 to win the $65,000 Spanish Open Golf Tournament by six strokes over Masters champion Gary Player of South Africa.

Boston Bruins get 8 shots past Esposito

BOSTON (AP) — Tony Esposito of the Chicago Black Hawks is one of the National Hockey League's all-time great goalies, but he is human — and the Boston Bruins proved it.

Esposito had allowed only four goals in five playoff games and still was receiving kudos for his 46-save performance in a 4-2 victory in the series opener against Boston when he took the ice Sunday for the second game.

Led by Johnny Bucyk, who scored three power-play goals, the Bruins unloaded their heavy artillery for an 8-6 victory to even the best-of-seven series 1-1 before moving to Chicago for games No. 3 and 4 Tuesday and Thursday nights.

"I didn't play well at all," said Esposito, who had only 27 saves and was beaten for one goal on a 75-foot slap shot by Terry O'Reilly. "A lot of those long shots took big dips."

"It was not the best hockey game of the season," Boston Coach Bep Guidolin said. "We won, though, and that's all that counts. I don't give a darn about the score, whether it's 1-0 or 8-6, it's still a win."

The other NHL semifinal series resumes Tuesday night in Philadelphia with the Flyers leading the New York Rangers 1-0 on the strength of a 4-0 victory Saturday night.

In the World Hockey Association semis, the Minnesota Fighting Saints beat the Houston Aeros 4-1 to take a 2-1 lead in their series. Game four of the series will be played next Sunday.

The Toronto Toros took a 1-0 lead over the Chicago Cougars into tonight's game in Toronto in the other semifinal series.

Bucyk, one of the NHL's all-time top scorers, scored with assists from Bobby Orr and Carol Vadnais three times while the high-powered Bruins had a man-advantage in the first two periods.

Despite the heroics of Bucyk, who will be 39 on May 12, the Bruins were locked in a 4-4 tie after two periods.

Then they broke loose in the finale, Phil Esposito triggering the explosion by beating brother Tony on a pass out from Wayne Cashman after a fine rush by rookie Dave Forbes.

Minnesota's victory over Houston in St. Paul was witnessed by the largest crowd in WHA history — 16,412 fans. George Morrison scored two goals for the Saints while Ted Hampson and Frank Connelly got one each. Wayne Hughes

Registration open for Little League

Little League Baseball officials announced Monday that registration for minor league teams is still open for the coming season.

Interested boys must be at least 8-years-old by July 31 to meet the minimum age requirement.

Registration cards may be obtained from the Kukui Burger-Bar, 1400 South Limit, or from Roy Bryson, 701 East 24th.

The league is also in need of umpires for the 1974 season. Interested persons should contact Richard Vansell at 826-8972.

Oswald: "No, I am not. South was one of those really careful players. He didn't want to make seven. He decided to wear suspenders and a belt and be sure of six. Therefore, at trick two he led a trump from dummy and finessed his jack. After that the bad trump break didn't hurt. He made his slam."

Jim: "Quite a safety play. If the unusual finesse had lost South would have been able to win the return, draw the last trump, cash his ace of diamonds and get to dummy with the seven of trumps to discard his losing club."

Commodity regulation defeated

Special to The Democrat-Capital
WASHINGTON — Here's how area Members of Congress were recorded on major roll call votes on April 11, the last day before Congress' Easter recess. Congress reconvenes April 22.

HOUSE
COMMODITIES REGULATION — Rejected, 158 for and 179 against, an amendment to hire full-time commissioners to regulate the trading of agricultural commodities. The amendment was offered to H.R. 11313, which was later passed and sent to the Senate.

The overall bill would regulate trader-manipulation of the commodities market, which last year had a volume of about $500 billion. At present, the market is largely self-regulated. In rejecting the amendment, the House voted approval of part-time advisory commissioners, appointed by the President with Senate approval, to work with the Secretary of Agriculture.

Supporters argued that the proposed commission needs independence to effectively oversee commodity trading, and that part-time commissioners would "rubber-stamp" policies drafted by the Secretary of Agriculture. Rep. Neal Smith (D-Iowa) said that commodity traders want full-time commissioners who are "just as independent as the Securities Exchange Commission."

Opponents of full-time commissioners argued that the proposed board's policy should be wedded to the Agriculture Department's nationwide farm policy. Rep. William Wampler (R-Va) argued against creating another "unnecessary bureaucracy."

Reps. William Randall D-4th Dist., Richard Ichord D-8th Dist. voted yes.

SENATE
TAX AUDITS — Passed, 69 for and 20 against, an amendment to require the General Accounting Office to audit the income tax returns of any federal officeholder or employee who makes more than $20,000 a year.

The amendment was attached to the public campaign financing bill (S.3044). If the language becomes law, congressmen, presidents, federal judges and high-level government employees will be subjected to yearly tax audits, which will be made public by the GAO.

Supporters argued that such audits will help restore public trust in politicians. Sen. John Tower (R-Texas) said the Congress should be subjected to "the same, intensive audit that President Nixon underwent."

In opposing the amendment, Sen. James Buckley (C.N.Y.) said, "I see no legitimate purpose in ... this gratuitous invasion of privacy." Other senators argued it would cost too much to audit so many federal officials.

Sens. Stuart Symington (D) and Thomas Eagleton (D) voted yes.

CAMPAIGN HELPERS — Rejected, 40 for and 48 against, an amendment to limit free help from labor units and corporations to candidates for public office. The amendment was attached to the public campaign financing bill.

The overall bill calls for a $6,000 limit on any organization's contribution to an individual's campaign. The rejected amendment would have set a "fair market value" for services rendered by employees of a corporation or members of a union.

The value of such services would have been considered as part of the $6,000 limit.

Supporters argued for closing a loophole that permits labor unions, in particular, to provide limitless "volunteer" services to favored candidates. Sen. John Tower (R-Texas) said that without the amendment "this so-called campaign reform bill will be nothing more than a sham."

Opponents argued that it would be impossible to determine when such aid is voluntary and when it is subsidized by a corporation or union. Sen. Joseph Biden (D-Del) asked, "How could anyone legitimately enforce" the amendment's provisions?

Symington and Eagleton voted no.

PUBLIC FINANCING — Passed, 53 for and 32 against, a bill calling for public financing of campaigns for federal office. It now goes to the House.

Among its major provisions are:

✓ Federal subsidies to serious candidates for federal office. The subsidies will come from taxes collected under the "dollar check-off" provisions on income tax forms.

✓ Campaign contribution limits of $3,000 from individuals and $6,000 from organizations to all campaigning (primary and general election) of a candidate.

✓ Uniform, nationwide poll closing times to prevent media projections of presidential elections before western state voters have cast their ballots.

✓ Public tax audits of federal officials (above) and income source disclosure for candidates for federal office.

Eagleton voted yes and Symington did not vote.

KANSAS CITY (AP) — L. V. Minner, 58, died in a fire at his home in midtown Kansas City early today.

Six-under score wins WHCC opener

The team of Jim Dinsdale, Don Callis, Jim Haseltine and Dr. Elliott Braverman shot a six-under 64 to win Sunday's Member-Member Hollywood Tournament at Walnut Hills Country Club.

One stroke back in second was the team of Ray Warbritton, Al Grogher, Bill McWhirt and Ray Tippie.

An eight-hole playoff was needed to decide the third-place team. Dr. Clifford Kateman's eight iron shot on the eighth hole put his team in position for the win. Rounding out the team were Dave Logan, Ewing Gibson and Vern Rodick.

Hank Richardson, Mike Hawley, Jake Moore and Bob Bronson placed fourth.

The next men's event at WHCC is the May 5 Member-Guest Best Ball tourney.

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — Emmet James Kay, the last known American prisoner of war in Indochina, will be freed some time in the next six weeks, a Pathet Lao spokesman says.

The spokesman said on Sunday the 47-year-old Hawaiian pilot would be released within the 60-day period, which expires June 3, specified in the Laotian cease-fire agreement for the exchange of all POWs held by the two Laotian sides.

Kay, a pilot with Continental Air Services Inc., has been a prisoner of the Pathet Lao since his plane made a forced landing in northern Laos last May 7.

NEW YORK (AP) — Sen. James L. Buckley says he doesn't fear a possible challenge to his Senate seat by sportscaster Howard Cosell.

"There are not 10 people in the U.S. better qualified to run for the Senate than Howard Cosell," said the sportscaster in a speech Friday at the U.S. Naval Academy at Annapolis, Md.

He said he was considering running for Buckley's seat in 1976.

"I'd like to see the other nine people on his list," commented Buckley, R-Con.-N.Y., during an interview program on WABC-TV, where Cosell works.

TACOMA, Wash. (AP) — Sen. Warren G. Magnuson, 69, says he will seek another six-year term this fall.

Magnuson, D-Wash., formally announced his candidacy for re-election Sunday. He vowed to fight the "disastrous social and economic policies" of the Nixon administration.

Magnuson, who started in the Senate in December 1944, is likely to run unopposed in the Democratic primary. The most notable Republican expected to enter the race is state Sen. Jack Metcalf, who has already lost one Senate race to Magnuson.

A little something to help you through the profit squeeze.

The Datsun Pickup. It can save you something in times of need. Like money. It doesn't cost much to buy. At up to 25 miles per gallon. It doesn't cost much to run. And run it does. Overhead cam engine. Four-speed synchromesh stick shift. Torque front suspension. Heavy duty rear. The Datsun Pickup. It's America's number one selling import truck. Small wonder. Drive a Datsun... then decide.

Flood waters hit at Willow Springs

WILLOW SPRINGS, Mo. (AP) — There was considerable flooding in the Willow Springs area overnight as a result of rains that produced more than five inches in about 24 hours.

The highway patrol said several mobile homes were overturned, a number of cars were washed away, and several families were evacuated. Roads throughout the area were temporarily closed by the high water.

No gun salutes on traditional date

LONDON (AP) — Queen Elizabeth II's 48th birthday brought out the flags on public buildings in Britain, but the traditional gun salutes were postponed because it was Sunday.

The Queen was born in London on April 21, 1926.

The 62-gun salute from the Tower of London and the 41-gun salute from Hyde Park, traditionally fired on the birthdate, were put off until today.

ADVERTISEMENT FOR BIDS

Sealed bids for MAJOR ADDITIONS, REPAIRS AND REPLACEMENTS TO EXISTING FACILITIES, MISSOURI STATE FAIRGROUNDS, SEDALIA, MISSOURI will be received at the office of the Director, Division of Design and Construction, Office of Administration, State of Missouri, Room B-20, State Capitol Building, Jefferson City, Missouri 65101, until 1:30 P.M., C.D.T., May 2, 1974 and then publicly opened and read aloud.

Welcome NEW COMERS

TO SEDALIA, A FRIENDLY AND PROGRESSIVE CITY

- HOME OF THE MISSOURI STATE FAIR
- A GROWING INDUSTRIAL SITE
- A CONVENIENT SHOPPING AREA
- LOCATION OF THE PETTIS-BENTON COUNTY STATE FAIR COMMUNITY COLLEGE
- AN UP-TO-DATE CITY

We're proud of our town and more than happy to welcome you to it. For modern, comfortable living, you've picked the right place. We like Sedalia and are sure that you will too. Almost every religious faith is represented here so that you may worship in the church of your choice. Both public and parochial schools provide educational opportunities for everyone concerned. We are particularly proud of our new Junior High School. . . a boost to the educational system in Sedalia. You'll find an abundance of recreational activities available for both summer and winter pleasure in the many Sedalia parks. We are fortunate to have excellent medical care available to us through Bothwell Hospital and the Children's Therapy Center. A fine police force and fire department offer assistance and protection to the citizens of Sedalia. All in all, it's a good life here and we're glad to be able to share it with you.
